DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicants' amendment of 6/12/2008 has been acknowledged. . Claims 13 and 19 have been amended. Specification multiple pages has been amended.
2. Declaration under 37 C.F.R. 1.132 of Laura Ferrer Soler filed 6/12/2008 has been acknowledged

Status of Claims

3. Claims 13-29 are pending in this application. Claims 1-12 have been canceled in a previous amendment. Claims 13-17 and 19 are under consideration. Claims 18 and 20-29 have been withdrawn from further consideration.

Election/Restrictions

4. Applicants argue that Reimer et al do not disclose a mutant strain which comprises a mutation in at least one region of A gene for apxI and apxII. The office does not agree with applicants' arguments as mentioned in the previous action. Assuming if the applicants assertion that Reimer et al do not disclose a mutant strain were true, the claims still lack unity of invention because each group of I-IV as mentioned in the restriction mailed 10/02/2007 has a special technical feature that is not required for the other groups.

The special technical feature of group I is a strain of Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae APP.

The special technical feature of group II is a strain of Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae CECT 5985.

The special technical feature of group III is a strain of Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae CECT 5994.

The special technical feature of group IV is a method of obtaining an organism.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL. Claims 13-17 and 19 are under consideration. Claims 18 and 20-29 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected inventions.

Art Unit: 1645

Objections Withdrawn

5. Objection to the specification made in paragraph 3 of the office action mailed 2/13/2008 has been withdrawn in view of applicants' amendments of 6/12/2008.

Rejections Withdrawn

6. Rejection of claims 13-17 under 35 U.S.C. 101 made in paragraph 8 of the office action mailed 2/13/2008 has been withdrawn in view of applicants' amendments of 6/12/2008.

7. Rejection of claim 19 under 35 U.S.C. 112 first paragraph made in paragraph 10 of the office action mailed 2/13/2008 has been withdrawn in view of declaration under 37 C.F.R. 1.132 of Laura Ferrer Soler filed 6/12/2008.

Rejections Maintained

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Rejection of claims 13-17 under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) made in paragraph 12 of the office action mailed 2/13/2008 is maintained.

The rejection was as stated below:

Claims 13-17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by MacInnes et al. US 6,019,984

Art Unit: 1645

Claims are drawn to an immunogenic, non-hemolytic Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae strain comprising a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIA gene and optionally a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIIA gene.

MacInnes et al. teach immunogenic, non-hemolytic Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae strains comprising a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIA gene and optionally a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIIA gene (see abstract and claims and columns 1-4). MacInnes et al. teach deletion mutations, apxIA and apxIIA (see claims 6-12 and column columns 3 and 4 and figures). As to product of claim 19 and product of MacInnes et al. they are indistinguishable (see columns 13-14). MacInnes et al. teach do not explicitly teach nucleotides 886 to 945 of apxIA gene, however, such limitation would inherent in the full sequence of apxIA taught by MacInnes et al. The prior art anticipates the claimed invention.

Applicants' arguments filed 6/12/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicants argue:

- MacInnes is directed to a method of preparing a vaccine in which the microorganism has at least one RTX toxin which is substantially cell-associated. However, "substantially cell-associated" as defined at column 8 in MacInnes is not a mutation. Also, even though MacInnes discloses a modified App strain, only the B and D genes is modified (column 30 and claims 6-12 of MacInnes). MacInnes does not disclose at least one mutation in the transmembrane domain of the A gene of apxI or optionally apxII.

MacInnes teach transposon mutants of different strains and APX toxins from 12 different serotypes of Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae strains (see figures 3, 16, 17, 18 and 19). MacInnes also teach that outer membrane proteins of Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae can be altered by changing the growth conditions (see column 22).

10. Rejection of claims 13, 14, 15, 17 and 19 under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) made in paragraph 13 of the office action mailed 2/13/2008 is maintained.

The rejection was as stated below:

Claims 13, 14, 15, 17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Prideaux et al. US 6, 0472,183 B2.

Claims are drawn to an immunogenic, non-hemolytic Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae strain comprising a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIA gene and optionally a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIIA gene.

Prideaux et al. teach immunogenic, non-hemolytic Actinobacillus pleuropneumoniae strains comprising a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIA gene and optionally a mutation in a least in one region of the apxIIA gene (see abstract and claims and columns 1-2). Prideaux et al. teach deletion mutations, apxIA and apxIIA (see claims 1-4 and column columns 3 and 4). As to product of claim 19 and product of Prideaux et al. they are indistinguishable (see columns 8, 20 and examples 5-6). The prior art anticipates the claimed invention.

Applicants' arguments filed 6/12/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicants argue:

- Prideaux is directed to a modified APP strain comprising an RTX A gene and an inactivated RTX C gene, so that the C gene is mutated. Prideaux does not disclose at least one mutation in the transmembrane domain of the A gene of apxI or optionally apxII.

Prideaux et al. teach mutated A gene of apxI (see example 4 , column 14) wherein apxI A gene and a Kanamycin resistance gene linked to T5 promoter was resulted in transformants which were Kanamycin resistant and produced white colonies.

Conclusion

11. No claims are allowed.

12. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
